Declaration of Conformity to California Proposition 65

Proposition 65 (Safe Drinking Water and Toxic Enforcement Act of 1986) is a Californian law that requires businesses to notify Californians about significant chemicals that cause cancer or birth defects or other reproductive harm. The law requires that no person doing business, knowingly and intentionally expose an individual to a chemical known to the state of California to cause cancer, birth defects, or reproductive toxicity without first giving a clear and reasonable warning.

Although some of our products contain Proposition 65 listed substances, we certify that to the best of our knowledge and based upon the information available to us, there is no risk of exposure under normal usage, such as contact with skin, ingestion, or inhalation. Therefore, a warning label is not required stating that our products contain chemicals that may cause cancer, birth defects, or reproductive harm.

Moreover, our products consist of integrated circuits and related semiconductor devices, which are not consumer products available for retail sale, and which do not expose humans to any carcinogens or reproductive toxins through inhalation or absorption through the skin in their final configuration.

Though if a customer is using the product outside of normal operating practices or if performing a destructive component test, the application is done at a customer's own risk. To reduce the risk of exposure, we recommend use of approved safety equipment including, face masks, filters and gloves designed specifically for the purpose of filtering out particles.
